

Skilton House Ministries – a multifaceted outreach that involves four different ministries:

- 1. Christian Release Time Education Program (CRT) – involves bringing local churches and public schools together so that children who have gained parental permission can be released from school to attend a one hour a week class on the essentials of the Christian faith.
- 2. Operation Brotherhood – brings churches from different racial, ethnic, and cultural backgrounds together to assemble and distribute food baskets to needy families at Thanksgiving.
- 3. Nursing Home Visitation and Worship Program – enables churches to visit local nursing homes and helps them to conduct worship services for residents.
- 4. Sowers Ministry – seeks to publish and distribute solid, biblical Christian literature and offer venues for the defense of the Christian faith.

If you are interested in learning more about these programs or want to get involved, contact Rev. Jeffrey C. Waddington, the Executive Director of Skilton House Ministries. Below you will find contact information. Rev. Waddington is a Ph. D. candidate in apologetics at Westminster Theological Seminary and an ordained minister in the Orthodox Presbyterian Church. He is available to give presentations about SHM to Sunday Schools, church groups and other organizations.

Skilton House Ministries – a multifaceted outreach that involves four different ministries:

- 1. Christian Release Time Education Program (CRT) – involves bringing local churches and public schools together so that children who have gained parental permission can be released from school to attend a one hour a week class on the essentials of the Christian faith.
- 2. Operation Brotherhood – brings churches from different racial, ethnic, and cultural backgrounds together to assemble and distribute food baskets to needy families at Thanksgiving.
- 3. Nursing Home Visitation and Worship Program – enables churches to visit local nursing homes and helps them to conduct worship services for residents.
- 4. Sowers Ministry – seeks to publish and distribute solid, biblical Christian literature and offer venues for the defense of the Christian faith.

If you are interested in learning more about these programs or want to get involved, contact Rev. Jeffrey C. Waddington, the Executive Director of Skilton House Ministries. Below you will find contact information. Rev. Waddington is a Ph. D. candidate in apologetics at Westminster Theological Seminary and an ordained minister in the Orthodox Presbyterian Church. He is available to give presentations about SHM to Sunday Schools, church groups and other organizations.